

I understand the FCC is considering opening the door to LPFM to take priority over Religious FM Stations. I urge you to reconsider especially in light of the most recent elections. I do not believe that the country is moving toward the conservative right, like some presume. Rather, that the conservative voice in America is no longer content being quiet. We have grown weary of being pushed aside by others with agendas to eliminate God from our country and are finally willing to speak up. K-Love is the only non-commercial radio station that serves my community and would be a great loss. It is a constant encouragement, offering positive, encouraging music and tidbits of scripture and teachings to keep one focused on what is really important. Even the news is tempered just enough that I do not need to worry about changing the station so my children do not hear something that is offensive or threatening. The language used by the announcers is always appropriate and you never hear anyone being foul or crass. If more people would listen to this station, I believe there lives would be changed for the positive. Try it for a week and see if you do not have a better outlook on your days.
